

QEII 50-50 add-on lottery winners

Baddeck's Cynthia Drinnan and her husband Gareth (above) haven't stopped smiling since discovering they won the Queen Elizabeth II's 50/50 add-on of $433,700 (one half of the total pot) recently. What a life changer! Congratulations!

Flourish & nourish... community market returns

Baddeck

Although the weather would make us think otherwise, it is closing in on summertime and that means the Baddeck and Area Community Market will be ushering in it's second year of operation.

Beginning June 1st the Market will be buzzing each & every Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Baddeck Community Centre until we are graced with the fall colours.

The Market welcomes back many of last year's vendors as well as some new faces and experiences including locally baked artisan bread. If you haven't sampled it you must, it is a rare treat!

Expect early greens, free range chicken and sausage, fresh fish and much, much more.

Come and support your local food growers and artisans ... one more way to nourish a flourishing community.

Local musicians are encouraged to contact the market if they are interested in busking. As well, volunteers are always welcome.

Contact and vendor application information can be found on the market website www.baddeckcommunitymarket.net or can be picked up at the Baddeck Public Library or IT Center.

See you at the market!

Intergenerational Award

Baddeck Lions Club King Lion Shane MacFarlane accepts a $250 cheque from Intergenerational Award winner Katie Reashore who was recognized for helping seniors and youth work together to make life better in their communities.

by Jim Morrow

"The recipients of the Intergenerational Award are wonderful volunteers who promote the importance of youth and seniors working together to make their communities better," said Seniors' Minister Denise Peterson-Rafuse.

Katie Dawn Reashore is the recipient of the Outstanding Volunteer Service Award: Younger Generation for her contributions to the Alderwood Rest Home in Baddeck.

Katie, a 13-year-old student at Baddeck Academy visits with residents twice a week, providing companionship, participating in events and conducting programs including crafts and decorations. She purchased teddy bears for all the residents and provides all of the supplies for her craft programs, gifts and treats.

Katie received $250 to give to the charity of her choice. She chose the Baddeck Lions Club.

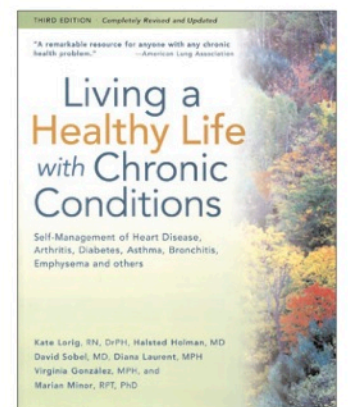

Katie said she chose the Lions because, "They are a wonderful group to have in the community. They do many things like hold the annual seniors dinner, help with the Kidston Island Beach Project which keeps a boat running across to the Island's beach, hiring the lifeguards and many other things to keep it 'afloat'. They are a great group and very deserving of this donation. They definitely help the community in all age groups."
